Skinny Skribbles

Donald Van Gilder, editor of "The Gossip," sends me copies of his publication, a la typewriter press, illustrated, four columns wide and less than a yard long, which makes it good. Donald has moved in from Garden Grove and is now a Santa Ana publisher. One of Donald's will Rogers wisecracks runs like this: "The editor got a hair cut so you can't pull the wool over his eyes." He has an old axiom which he should have run last winter during the flood: "Still water never runs deep," only revised "water still runs deep." I would be able to supply Donald's paper with a lot of gossip, but not longer than for one issue.

Science has disposed of geographical frontiers, but the frontiers of human relationship remain, and remain unsolved. So says a speaker before a service club, but clings to the hope that application of the Golden Rule may yet be accepted, and ventured the opinion that it was the only solution. Progress has been made in industry where such application has been made. The overshadowing power of employer over labor or labor over employer is no solution to the vexing question of satisfactory relationship between capital and labor. Mankind is slow to learn. This remedy was voiced almost 2000 years ago.

I can't see any sense going up 17 stories to jump into eternity, when you can lie down flat on a comfortable bed and take enough strychnine to put you to sleep permanently. The only fellow who will wake you up will be Gabriel, and he isn't in any hurry.

The railroads still have their right-of-way to run trains, but the right to way to operate has been largely turned over to the ICC.

The Iowa trek to Long Beach will take place Saturday, August 13, when the annual picnic is to be held in Bixby Park. According to the estimated attendance figures, Long Beach is making progress and threatens to pass the original Los Angeles affair. The beach city says 100,000 is expected to attend. L. A. invariably claims 150,000, regardless of times or weather, or how many are on relief. Having been so close to it for many years, I am always suspicious of newspaper estimates, and more often suspicious of estimates given to the newspapers.

Met a fellow who was in favor of the $30 weekly pension plan, on the theory that money is being given away, and he might as well get his part of it.

It's one session on candidates. One of the victims reports invitation to dinner by one of the several thousand organizations in the county. Conspicuous differential is noticed in the price of the meal. If you are a candidate you pay $1. If not the same dinner will cost you 75 cents. So the candidates, like the idle rich, go into the higher brackets.

Lieutenant Governor George Hatfield visited Santa Ana last night sponsored by Councilman Joe Smith, they call at Meridian headquarters. It would happen that the headquarters were closed just at this most inopportune time.

Evidently the Jews in Palestine have decided it's time to return the compliment. Telegraph reports of tragedies sometime ran to the Jewish race. Few days ago the sons of Moses retaliated and disposed of 65 Arabs, few days later 5 more, and a time bomb was discovered just in time to avoid a wholesale disposal of the Mohammedans. Occasionally a British subject would bite the dust. It seems that patience ceased to be a virtue on the Jewish side, and turning the other cheek didn't get 'em any place. So what? Fewer Arabs.

The girls who gave away gum are restricted in their motivation, according to city ordinances. They must remain in places where the brand is sold. Heretofore they brought it to you. Now you go and get it.

And then there was the party who inquired if she might pick some apricots from trees on a vacant lot, received permission, and started picking. There weren't many left for the fellow who owned the lot.

Times change. That old saw about the prophet not being without honor save in his own country. (Continued on Page 2, Col. 3)

Campaign Probe Spreads

SOLONS SEND AGENTS INTO MANY STATES

WASHINGTON, (AP)—The Senate campaign expenditures committee dispatched investigators to the nation's political hotbeds today after condemning tactics in Tennessee's Democratic senatorial race.

Evidence in the five-man Tennessee campaign, the committee announced, "points sharply toward an election contest in the United States senate regardless of which group's candidate wins."

It added in a formal statement about the primary battle, which will be decided next Tuesday: "Apparently every scheme and questionable device that can be used in a political contest to raise funds to influence votes and control the election result is in full swing."

Working at top speed yesterday, the committee acted on complaints from California and several other states. It ordered investigators back into Kentucky and Pennsylvania for more facts, and decided to send investigators to California, Georgia, North Dakota, Indiana and Illinois in response to new complaints.

Meanwhile the declaration that Postmaster General Farley personally attempted to place United States Senator Logan on a federal bench and thus leave the way open for Gov. A. B. (Happy) Chandler to run for Logan's seat without major opposition was thrown into Kentucky's red hot senatorial campaign by State Finance Commissioner Dan Talbott.

Chandler in a recent campaign speech declared Logan had "begged" for an appointment to the federal bench last spring and Logan, campaigning for renomination of U. S. Senator Alben W. Barkley, promptly told an audience Chandler's statement was a "damned lie." Barkley previously had asserted Chandler tried to "make a deal" to get Logan a federal judicial appointment.

Talbott declared he and Chandler and Farley met early this year in Farley's office and added: "I asked Mr. Farley if every proposition concerning Senator Logan and the judgeships had not come from him and the President—and not from Governor Chandler. He replied, 'Yes.'"

"Then I asked Mr. Farley if the shoe which Senator Barkley had attempted to place on Governor Chandler's foot did not belong on his own foot and the foot of the President. He said, 'Yes.'"

Pair 'Wed' In Sky Deny They Worry

PONTIAC, Mich. (AP)—Apparently unperturbed by doubts cast on the legality of their marriage by an airplane captain three miles above Los Angeles, Edward L. Von Glatte and his bride said today they expected "official word" from California late today on their marital status.

They said that, if a second marriage ceremony should be necessary, it would be performed when they return to Los Angeles 10 days hence.

Editor Links Russ Purge, Jap Warning

MOSCOW, (AP)—The Siberian newspaper, Pacific Ocean Star, couples news of a new purge of wreckers in the Far East with a warning to Japan against invasion.

The paper, published at Khabarovsk, said that "in the past few months a great purge was carried on, and it still continues. The Bolsheviks of Primorsk province will smoke from their holes all spies, wreckers and terrorists to the last man."

The account added that "under direct leadership of Comrade Stalin, the militant capacity of our organization is increasing daily, the strength of our red bannered far eastern front and our Pacific fleet."

"If Japanese rabble poke their noses into Primorsk province (hard by the area in which have occurred recent Russian-Manchukuo border clashes) they have only themselves to blame for the consequences. They will be scattered by a hurricane of fire from the air, sea and land."

PREMIER SAFE IN FAR NORTH

WHITEHORSE, Y. T. (Canadian Press)—A message received here today said Premier Mitchell Hepburn and his air-touring party had landed safely at Carcross, Y. T.

Anxiety for the premier and his party, which included Bernard E. (Sell 'Em Ben) Smith, famous New York broker, mounted as the hours passed and the party was unreported. The plane took off from here at 5:12 p. m., yesterday for Juneau, Alaska, about an hour's flight.

Delays in hearing of the landing was caused by lack of communication facilities in this far-north country.

The party was reported awaiting weather reports at Carcross before continuing on to Juneau.

BRISK RALLY ON MARKET

NEW YORK, (AP)—The stock market turned around for a brisk rally today, regaining much of the losses on an abrupt decline in the preceding session.

Automobile stocks led the recovery after Wall street had found the second quarter earnings reports of Chrysler and General Motors, published after the close of the market yesterday, better than had been forecast.

The street also heard leading motor makers were planning to push preparations for new models to supply improving retail demand for cars.

The architectural firm of Austin, Wildman and Kirby will submit plans and cost estimates on the new million-dollar Greater Junior college to the Santa Ana board of education next Monday night.

'INSULT' IN BOOK CAUSE OF WARFARE

RANGOON, Burma, (AP)—Rioting between Burmese Buddhists and Indian Moslems caused 40 deaths today. Two hundred and fifty persons were injured.

Street fighting broke out in the morning, subsided and then flared again toward midnight.

Strategic streets in the center of the city, capital of Rangoon, were barricaded by reinforced British troops.

Shops were looted and burned and prisoners fled the jail as the violence raged.

Armored cars patrolled the streets.

A tense situation developed this morning after police had stood by since Tuesday when 40 were hurt in disorders in the crowded bazaar area.

The trouble followed publication of a book by a Mohammedan allegedly insulting Buddhism.

Troops of the King's own Yorkshire light infantry, called out today to assist police, called out to chase guns in various places.

All business houses were closed and traffic was paralyzed. Many streets, strewn with bricks and sticks after the Buddhist-Mohammedan fighting, were deserted.

Wild rumors of stabbings, murder and shootings circulated. The mayor's automobile was stoned. A panic-like situation spread through the city after a big fire was started near Keighley street.

German Won't Eat As Hitler Protest

LOS ANGELES, (AP)—A six-day hunger strike by Theodore Henry Hesselbein, 40-year-old German writer, continued in the county jail hospital today to call attention to the plight of the world caused by that terrible Hitler man.

Held for federal authorities investigating charges that he is in the United States illegally, Hesselbein expressed fear for his life if he is deported to Germany.

LOS ANGELES, (AP)—In a brief hearing, Barbara M. Statler, 21, who had earned $85 a month as a dentist's assistant, today won a divorce from Ellsworth M. Statler, 25, Statler hotel family heir.

The court order gave her $5000 cash, $5000 a year for four years, $5000 more at the end of that time, $8000 worth of personal property and paid $6000 of her debts.

Capital Of Texas Faces Flood Threat

With the Texas capital only a few blocks in the background, the overflowing Colorado river swept into the main street of Austin, Tex., forcing business to cease and paralyzing southbound traffic. More water was expected.

U. S. PATROLS IN SHANGHAI

SHANGHAI, (AP)—United States marines today re-established traffic patrols along the sector of the International Settlement here which is under their guard.

Colonel Charles F. B. Price, commander, said that "there have been persistent and increasing violations" of an agreement reached three months ago with the Japanese army, that armed Japanese and military vehicles would be kept away.

Apparently, Col. Price said, the Japanese staff was "unable to secure compliance with the agreement by their subordinates."

80 Aliens Guilty Of Alaska Fishing

NAKNEK, Alaska, (AP)—The largest and speediest trial in Bristol bay history neared an end today as 80 alien fishermen were convicted of fishing without citizenship papers.

Of 135 indicted 80 men were fined $200 each for a total of $16,000 and all were given suspended 30-day sentences.

The alien fishermen were arrested and convicted eight days after Joe Green, territorial tax collector from Juneau, uncovered the illegal fishing and wired United States District Attorney Joe Kehoe at Seward.

Claire Trevor and Clark Andrews Wed

HOLLYWOOD, (AP)—Blonde Claire Trevor of the screen and Clark Andrews, radio show producer, are sailing today for Honolulu on a month-long honeymoon.

A special detail of Beverly Hills police was kept busy last night handling the crowd of fans outside All Saints' Episcopal church as Miss Trevor became the bride of the man she met during a radio engagement several months ago.

Son of Japanese Premier Home

(The prince attended Princeton, but was not graduated this spring because, he said on June 17, he failed in "all of my majors.")

Ickes Did Not 'Ask Papa' About Third Term; Thought It All Up Himself, He Says

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Secretary Ickes told reporters today he "didn't ask papa" for permission to make an indirect reference to a possible Roosevelt third term in a radio broadcast last Monday night.

"Nope," he said, "I thought it all up myself. I didn't ask papa." Newsman took "papa" to be the President.

In his address, Ickes said:

The resolution presented by Edward T. Lee, dean of the John Marshall law school, Chicago, previously was refused approval by the resolutions committee of the eligibility of Justice Hugo Black to sit on the court.

"Sense of duty to the dignity of the high profession of which I am an inconspicuous member impelled me to offer this resolution," Lee said.

No one spoke against the resolution.

Also unfavorably reported to the convention's assembly was a proposed resolution sharply attacking Nazi Germany for "discrimination" against "law abiding citizens . . . solely because of their race, religion or political opinions" which action has "shocked the conscience of mankind."

BRITISH SHIP AGAIN TARGET

MADRID, (AP)—An air raid by 12 insurgent warplanes today killed 18 persons, including two aboard the British ship Kellwyn, in the Valencia harbor.

A total of 115 bombs was reported to have been dropped.

One of those killed aboard the Kellwyn was Albert Moyell, Danish agent of the European non-intervention committee.

RIO GRANDE ON RAMPAGE

BROWNSVILLE, Tex. (AP)—The Rio Grande, swollen by streams from the flooded plains of Upper Mexico, continued its rapid rise in the lower valley today.

The river rose 12 feet here yesterday, and crews of PWA workers reinforced levees with handbags to protect Fort Brown, military reservation.

The water level was several feet above Brownsville streets, held by city levees. Many residents in lowlands around Brownsville evacuated their homes, taking with them livestock and other properties.

W. J. Schmutz, federal meteorologist, advised continued caution and urged removal of all livestock from areas between the river and the main flood levee on the American side.

RFC, PWA Agreement Opens Way To Vast New Relief Program

BILLION AND HALF WILL BE READY FOR USE

WASHINGTON. (AP)—A working agreement between RFC and PWA officials opened a path today to vast new public works in the administration's spending-lending program.

The understanding provides that the Construction Finance corporation make its lendable $1,500,000,000 available for loans on projects receiving grants from PWA's $950,000,000.

Thus, PWA can reserve all its funds for grants instead of dividing allotments between loans and grants, as has been the practice.

The decision, announced last night by Chairman Jesse Jones of the RFC, has the potential effect of more than doubling PWA's dollar power.

Secretary Ickes, as director of PWA, thus far has allotted $562,251,129 in loans and grants, well over half of the money available.

The indicated immediate effect of the two-agency action was to make possible certain large undertakings which PWA has been disinclined to approve for two general reasons: The amount of funds required, and the time needed for completion.

Talk of three specific projects was revived. They are: A $70,000,000 tunnel in New York City linking the southern tip of Manhattan Island with Brooklyn.

A $60,000,000 "all-weather" highway across Pennsylvania.

A $35,000,000 subway under Chicago's downtown area.

The RFC was empowered by congress last spring to lend $1,500,000,000 to states, cities and business men. Officials explained that RFC's participation with PWA would be confined to revenue-producing projects, where tolls or rentals would pay off the loans.

Jones was represented as feeling that PWA grants of 45 per cent would tend to make projects better risks for loans, and might warrant lower interest rates for such lending.

(RFC loans have been carrying higher interest than the 4 per cent charged by PWA, and some municipalities have been able to obtain money at even lower rates through local financing.)

The demand for more lendable millions has been evident in PWA activities. Of current commitments, 93 per cent have been grants and only 7 per cent loans. Part of the strategy involved was to conserve PWA funds and permit their spread over a greater number of projects. That helped, too, in drawing private funds into the activities.

Japan gave notice of withdrawing from the League of Nations March 27, 1933, and ceased to be a member on March 26, 1935.

French Mothers Being Urged to Have More Children

WASHINGTON. (AP)—France is doing something about her missing population.

The American commercial attaché in Paris reports that the French are using a system of family allotments to encourage larger families.

Under the system a family's income is increased by specific amounts according to the number of children supported. A recent survey showing that births declined in France by 210,000 between 1930 and 1937 has led to an increase in allotments during last year by more than 8 per cent.

Latest Version of 'The Worm Turns'

DE KALB, Ill. (AP)—For a long time Clarence Baile's shepherd dog picked up the pet rabbit. But instead of scampering away the other day the rabbit turned on the dog, leaped upon his back, sunk its teeth into his shoulder and would not let go. Baile had to shoot the rabbit to pry it loose.

JAPS ADVANCE ON HANKOW AS PEOPLE FLEE

SHANGHAI. (AP)—Hankow authorities ordered the quick evacuation today of all civilians in that populous tricity area as the Japanese war machine moved relentlessly northwestward from Kiukiang.

The command showed the growing Chinese fears for the metropolitan Wuhan area — Wuchang, Hanyang and Hankow, generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek's headquarters and provisional capital—and authorities' desires to avoid needless sacrifice of non-combatants in expected Japanese air raids.

The Japanese offensive today entered Hupeh province, the eleventh of the 24 Chinese provinces to be involved in the conflict. The Wuhan cities are in Hupeh, which has 71,000 square miles and 29,000,000 population. The entrance of Hupeh was made possible by the Japanese occupation Tuesday of Kiukiang, 135 miles down the Yangtze from Hankow and only 100 air miles distant from the temporary capital.

Reports of developments on the Kiukiang front were conflicting. The Chinese admitted loss of the city but maintained their forces reorganized southwest of Kiukiang and launched a counter-offensive while huge fires were raging there.

Japanese reports were that Chi-

Alimony for Men Urged as Feature Of Equal Rights

NEW YORK. (AP)—Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, pioneer feminist, is in favor of alimony for husbands as well as wives.

She told a luncheon of women's organizations so yesterday in urging the need of adopting a new program to obtain better rights for women throughout the world.

"But we need to realize that men have a fancy about equal rights, too," she cautioned.

Water Softener To Change Flavor

EL SEGUNDO. (AP)—Housewives are awaiting the construction of the city's $600,000 treatment plant to soften city water. While it will save soap, the softer water will cause the hydrangea blossoms now blue to turn pink, the city engineer says.

Chinese opposition in the area was shattered and that both Japanese naval and infantry units were advancing westward virtually unopposed.

Because of the mountainous nature of the terrain and the number of lakes and swamps in Northern Kiangsi province, the Chinese maintained the Japanese would have to pay a heavy price for attempts to fight their way through the province, in which Kiukiang and Nanchang, General Chiang's main air base, are located.

Federation of Jews Formed In Germany to Deal With Nazi Government as Unit

BERLIN. (AP)—Formation of a federation of Jews in Germany which will constitute their official representation in dealings with the Nazi government, was announced today in the weekly Centralverein Zeitung, organ of German Jewry.

The organization united all Jewish societies under one head, Rabbi Leo Baeck, Chief Rabbi of Berlin, was named president.

The development comes at a time when an international effort is being made to aid emigration of Jews from this country.

George Brandt, official United States observer, is making a survey of the possibilities. Jews themselves predicted that finding emigration opportunities for them would be an almost insurmountable task.

The new Jewish federation issued a brief appeal in which it stated Jews were "entitled to look for assistance."

"Tasks of the most serious nature lie before us," it said.

"Against all adversity we posed our trust in God and our self-confidence. There can be no doubt however that the continued extraordinary call upon our resources has limits. The basis of our existence has been narrowing."

constantly. Elimination from callings and business subjects the greatest part of Jews in Germany to enduring unemployment.

There are some 300,000 to 350,000 Jews in Germany. Brandt, member of the consular service, through American sources here is seeking to determine how many want to leave with the aid of the international refugee organization newly established in London.

Influential Jews are skeptical. They point out that fewer than 150,000 have been able to leave since Chancellor Hitler assumed power in 1933, despite the expressed German wish that they go.

Emigration was comparatively easy then, but it is increasing daily in difficulty.

Federal Tax Held Hindrance to U. S.

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—John W. O'Leary, Chicago steelmaker and chairman of the executive committee of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, said here today that through taxation the nation is taking out of its productive economy about a third of the national income.

"At the turn of the century we were spending six cents on the dollar for government, now it is between 28 and 35 cents. Little of this goes for relief."

SEAL BEACH GETS $107,934

SEAL BEACH.—A PWA grant and loan totaling $107,934 for construction of the long-pending Seal Beach municipal pier has been approved by the San Francisco PWA office, according to word received here today.

The city approved a bond issue to finance Seal Beach's part in the construction program several months ago, and construction has been held up pending receipt of word from the Public Works administration.

Today's announcement from K. A. Godwin, regional PWA director, said $48,570 of the appropriation will be a grant and the remaining $59,364 will be in the form of a PWA loan.

Construction will start within the next few weeks, officials here revealed, since plans and specifications all were approved long ago.

U. S. Traffic Fatalities Drop 22% In First Half Of Year

3670 LIVES SAVED BY CARE IN 6 MONTHS

CHICAGO, (P)—The nation's motorists are beginning to reap the brakes in time to save lives. The National Safety council reported today traffic fatalities for the first six months of 1938 were fewer by 22 per cent than during the same period last year.

By heeding the plea to drive more carefully, American motorists saved 3670 lives during the first half of 1938, the council said. The steady decline in fatalities was registered despite a two per cent increase in highway traffic during the first five months, the council said.

If the percentage of decline continues for the balance of 1938, the council said, the year's traffic toll would be the lowest since 1928 and would represent a saving of 8700 lives in comparison with 1937. June was the eighth consecutive month to register a decline. The death toll for the month was 2270, or 24 per cent under that of June, 1937. The June total was below that of May, a trend which has been recorded only once in the past five years.

Sidney J. Williams, director of public safety for the council, attributed the favorable trend this year to various factors. Among them he listed safer cars and highways, more and better drivers' license laws, traffic engineers, traffic police, school safety work, organized safety campaigns, and information on how and why accidents occur, and a better understanding by the public of the tragedy and the economic cost of accidents.

Pennsylvania scored the best mark for the first half of 1938 with a 42 per cent reduction in traffic deaths as compared with the same period last year. Delaware was second with 40 per cent. Among the nation's cities, Detroit made the best improvement over last year's six-month period. The council said Detroit saved 91 lives during the first half of 1938. The decrease for the first six months by states:

Pennsylvania 42 per cent, Delaware 40, Michigan 39, Massachusetts, Wisconsin, and Maryland 35; New Hampshire and Vermont 32; Nebraska 30; Connecticut 29; Illinois 27; New Jersey 26; Indiana 25; Oklahoma and Wyoming 24; West Virginia and New Mexico 20; Tennessee and Arkansas 18; New York and North Carolina 17; Oregon 16; Texas and Nevada 14; California 13; Washington 12; South Carolina 11; Georgia 10 (five months); Kansas 10; South Dakota 9; Maine 8; Virginia and Colorado 7; Alabama 6, and Florida (five months) and Idaho 3.

try, doesn't fit into the Santa Ana scheme of recognition. The city firemen proved it. As a result Fire Chief John Luxemburger is wearing a gold ring set with diamonds, gift of recognition and appreciation from the department which he has been chief for twenty years. The boys introduced the affair with a turkey dinner. Luxemburger, always agreeable and accommodating, accepted the ring. Bet he keeps it a long time. John has been going to blazes ever since I knew the town. Hope he gets enough of it here.

Howard S. Magnusson, a used-to-beer Santa Ana realtor, now located in Long Beach, returns to visit with former friends which he still has, according to tradition, "to have and to hold." Howard thinks the vision is upward for real estate, especially groves. Fundamentally they are sound, and he finds faith unimpaired. Nice viewpoint. Let's have more of it.

And then there was the fellow who couldn't see the pay telephone station in the Santa Fe depot because it was too conspicuous. Sometimes we get so close to a problem that the blur obstructs the view. Life is that way. Some of the blessings are eclipsed because they are so frequent and visible.

Boy Bawled Out For Candy Theft

MORGAN OPENS OLD TVA FEUD

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (P)—Harcourt A. Morgan, chairman of the Tennessee valley authority, reopened the old TVA feud today with an attack on Dr. Arthur E. Morgan, deposed chairman, before a congressional investigation committee.

When the investigators were unwilling to agree that Dr. Morgan's charges were "washed up," Chairman Morgan (no relation) insisted on the right to answer charges by his former chief orally rather than submitting answers into the record.

After considerable discussion the committee lifted at least temporarily the ban on personalities, but two Republican members of the group, Sen. Lynn Frazier, North Dakota, and Rep. Charles Wolverton, were against it.

Two New Stamps Due at P. O.

Of interest to stamp collectors is the news that two special stamp issues are due to arrive at the Santa Ana postoffice during the next two weeks.

One of them, a six-cent denomination, has a likeness of John Q. Adams imprinted on its face and should be at the local office within the next week. The second one is an eight-cent stamp bearing a likeness of Martin Van Buren on its face. It will be sent to the local office Aug. 11.

VALIDITY OF POLICY DENIED

Counter-charges that Martin A. Koop of Santa Ana had no right to take out an insurance policy on his brother-in-law's life were made today as the Alliance Mutual life insurance association filed an answer to Koop's $2000 superior court suit.

Koop had filed suit against the insurance firm for $2000 he said became due on the death last Nov. 11 of Frank J. Kotlengar, the brother-in-law.

The insurance company's answer, filed today, said the application for a policy which Koop presented did not bear Kotlengar's signature; and added the policy was cancelled after unsuccessful attempts to get him to sign the application. The answer also said that $88 in premiums had been returned to Koop; and that Koop had no insurable interest in his brother-in-law and therefore was not entitled to take out a policy on his life.

Woman Weds One Decree Too Soon, Asks Annulment

Mistaken as to the effect of an interlocutory divorce decree, Mrs. Laurabelle Ferguson of Santa Ana today had filed suit for annulment in superior court of a subsequent marriage.

She filed suit against Paul Lucien Ferguson, whom she married in Yuma, Nov. 10, 1934. At that time, she alleged, she had only an interlocutory divorce decree obtained June 10, 1934, from Lawrence Christian Petersen, her former husband. She said she believed the Yuma marriage would be valid, but since has learned it is not.

RO-KI-LI NEEDS MORE SCOUTS

Whether Boy Scout Camp Ro-Ki-Li is to remain open for Orange county Scouts during the week of Aug. 2 to 9 hinges on obtaining a half dozen additional registrations within the next few days for the camp during that period.

Scout officials must have a certain number of boys in the camp in order to meet expenses. Five or six more boys are needed to bring the number up to the minimum.

Any boy in Orange county may attend the camp provided he agrees to meet the rules and regulations formulated by the Scout council. The charge of $7.65 for a week's outing for each boy will pay for transportation and living expenses. Scout officials said this morning. The camp is operated on a non-profit basis. Parents wishing to send their boys to the camp Aug. 2 may apply at the office of Scout Executive Harrison White in the Spurgeon building.

N.Y. Death Leap's Cost Estimated Above $100,000

NEW YORK, (P)—Unofficial estimates of the cost of John Ward's 17-story death leap to the city, the Gotham hotel and merchants in the vicinity ranged up from $100,000 today.

No official figure was available, but it was pointed out the exclusive shops along Fifth avenue and side streets for at least two blocks in each direction from the hotel did little or no business. Police lines barred customers, and the shops' clerks almost to a man were watching Ward.

At least 1000 police and firemen, two ambulances and an emergency truck, and several police cars were at the scene. The actual cost of this activity was not estimated authoritatively.

Poland Protests Czech Communists

WARSAW, (P)—A second Polish note protesting against alleged anti-Polish activities of the Czechoslovak Communist party was presented today to the Praha government.

Wallace Beery Rubs Beefy Hand Over Blushing Face As He Considers Love Scene

HOLLYWOOD, (P)—Wallace Beery, roly-poly bad man, rubbed a meaty hand over his blushing face today, stricken with embarrassment at the thought of playing a 40-second love scene.

"Been in pictures for 20 years, but I'm used to being tough, not tender," he complained.

"I've ridden horses over cliffs, worked in a cafe with lions, rescued kids from burning houses, and been licked by a lot of leading men. But me a lover? Gosh!"

However, the script is law in Hollywood. And the script of "Stablemates" has Beery going into a "clinch" with his partner in romance, Margaret Hamilton.

Beery said the easiest way out seemed to be "caveman tactics."

plained, "growl 'how about it kid?' and then kiss her quick—if the director's satisfied."

"Miss Hamilton won't be having the time of her life, unless she's got a swell imagination and gets me mixed up with Nelson Eddy."

Mickey Rooney, Beery's co-star, saw the situation in a different light.

"He gets all the breaks," said Mickey. "All I get in the way of love scenes is a kiss from the racehorse after she wins the big race!"

I Just Found Out About Orange County Berries

By MILLARD BROWNE

The tall, wagging the dog out at Walter Knott's berry farm near Buena Park, and it's all because Knott's place is No. 1 example of the old adage, "Build a better mousetrap and the world will make a beaten path to your door."

Like the door in the adage, Knott's farm is located far off the regular thoroughfares; and like the fabled mousetrap, his unique product attracts folks from all over the world, gets comparatively few from the home town of Buena Park.

Knott's Berry Place, in fact, is going strong on its second 100,000 customers since the first of the year (100,000 mark was passed, with ceremony, in June). Customers come there to eat, to buy fresh berries and berry pies, to take home carefully prepared jams, jellies, gravies, pickles, French dressing and other products—and it all started with a tiny berry farm.

That's what Walter Knott means when he concedes, "Yep, I guess the tall's wagging the dog." Because his place is still a berry farm, and the restaurant which claims 75,000 separate customers is "just a sideline."

Mr. and Mrs. Knott (she still supervises all cooking) started their Buena Park farm in 1920. Seven years later they built a 20-by-20-foot tearoom and fruit stand, served nothing but berry pie and coffee. Customers (the tearoom handled only 20 at a time) began to clamor for more complete meals, and the Knotts gradually increased the menu, which now includes ham and chicken dinners, assorted sandwiches and desserts.

As people began telling their friends about the place, the Knotts also had to increase their facilities. They added a wing to double the capacity, then built a patio to furnish room for 700 patrons. The berry place now seats 400 customers, gets 2500 on the average summer Sunday, 6500 during the average summer week.

Best day in Knott history was last Mother's day, and Knott has figures on it. 2000 dinners were cooked, 945 chickens (raised specially by near-by poultrymen) cooked, 560 pies made, 14,780 biscuits consumed.

A showman? Knott denies it, insists he's just a farmer. But he does a lot of things to keep customers coming, his most successful stunt, he believes, is giving out menus which picture and describe the growth of his business. He hands out 10,000 of them each month, spends $200 a month to have them printed.

Some tourist from the East, however, will drop in almost every day carrying a menu some friend has given him, and Knott is sure the system brings him much of his business. "Everyone who walks off with a menu is the kind of customer who wants to talk about the place," is his philosophy.

No. 2 key to Knott's ideas of merchandising is to keep the place both attractive and interesting. Which accounts for his rock garden, the antique music boxes he keeps in the waiting-room, and other diversions that bring some patrons there "just to see the place," not necessarily to eat there.

Though 100 employees are on the payroll, 325 people employed during peak seasons, the berry place still is a farm, and still is a family proposition. Knott is in charge, his wife supervises the cooking, his daughters run the dining-room, and his son handles retail sales of fresh berries.

Eighty acres of the 120-acre farm are devoted to berries, and vegetables and other items used in the kitchen are grown other places on the farm.

A major industry in itself, though overshadowed by the restaurant, is Knott's berry nursery, biggest in the West. He grows more than 30 varieties of berries, has shipped stock to Europe, Africa, South America, New Zealand, China and Australia. (Most unusual order: Man in China ordered rush of boysenberries by short wave radio last spring.)

Current specialty at the farm is boysenberries, which Knott introduced commercially in 1935. Developed as a cross between blackberries, loganberries and raspberries by Rudy Boysen (Anaheim park superintendent), boysenberries have been sold in bulk, put in cans, fresh-frozen, made into sherbet and boysenberry punch at the Knott place.

Knott has encouraged another tricky little sideline: Housewives telephone, order the evening meal (maybe a half dozen chicken breasts, berry pie, three dozen biscuits, mashed potatoes and jar of gravy), say they'll come for it in a half hour.

Latest stunt: Fresh-freezing this year's entire berry crop, putting it up in small packages for retailing. Though 50,000 pounds of berries were frozen for pies used in the restaurant last winter, additional berries frozen in bulk for other big restaurants, this season will be first time berries have been

FEW EXPECTED TO VOTE IN G. G. FRIDAY

Unless some more grape growers "find" themselves between now and Friday, less than a dozen persons will march to the polls at Lincoln school, Garden Grove, to cast ballots in the county's smallest official election.

Voters must be grape growers. Growers all over the state will cast ballots Friday on whether or not they should set up a prorate similar to those in effect for citrus fruit. Most vitally interested are the larger growers of the San Joaquin valley—but elections must be held in every county in the state where grapes are grown.

Agricultural Commissioner D. W. Tubbs said today that his voting list will be kept open until the polls close Friday evening, so that growers who may have been overlooked may not now on Tubbs' list. Those not so far listed, he said, should report to his office in time to have corrections made.

Each producer will have two votes—one as a producer and one vote on a basis of the production factor of each 10 acres or fraction thereof. Voting may be done by representative, but the representative should be appointed in writing and the producer's signature witnessed.

Only nine commercial grape growers so far are qualified to vote, Tubbs said, representing 53 acres and 10 varieties of grapes. Polls will be open from 10 a. m. to 6 p. m., unless all votes are cast in the morning.

ZONING PLAN DISCUSSED

Approximately 40 owners of property fronting on Manchester boulevard between the city of Anaheim and Dale street heard an explanation of zoning matters along the traffic artery yesterday in the county planning commission office.

A common misunderstanding among property holders affected, planning commission men say, is the belief that no type of building can be erected along the boulevard. As a matter of fact the territory surrounding the highway is open to various types of buildings. Restrictions are placed in some regions against business buildings, however. One of the aims of the zoning plan is to outlaw the promiscuous placement of unattractive "hot dog stands" along the roadway, so noticeable along some main thoroughfares in other sections of Southern California.

Property damage only resulted from crashes involving Wesley Potter Short, Burbank, and George E. Eckert, Long Beach, at Fourth and Barton streets, and Mrs. Blanche Stauffer, 2134 Greenleaf, and Winfred Long, China, at Third and Main streets, according to police reports.

THREE JAILED FOR ALL-NIGHT CHICKEN FEAST

An all-night chicken dinner in San Juan Capistrano last March wound up today as three youths began county jail sentences for "borrowing" the main course.

Seven persons had been arrested on petty theft charges after Mrs. Katie Richardson, San Juan Capistrano pioneer, told officers she had lost 36 chickens just before the mission town's famous swallows arrived. At least a Capistrano resident attended the chicken dinner.

Paul Valenzuela, 27, will serve 45 days in the county jail because Justice John Landell found him guilty yesterday after trial; and William Erro, jr., 18, and Frank Ramos, 21, will serve sentences of 30 and 15 days, respectively, on pleas of guilty.

Trial had been postponed because Valenzuela, already under a suspended sentence, had been sent to jail for 90 days for assault and battery after he assertedly attempted to force a woman to cook six of the stolen fowl.

Charges were dismissed against Della and "Shorty" Ramos, the young prisoner's parents, at whose home the banquet was served. Cecil Martinez, and a 16-year-old boy now facing trial for perjury. Deputy Dist. Atty. Robert Gardner voted to dismiss the cases on the defendants because of insufficient evidence they took part in the thefts. N. D. Meyer, Santa Ana attorney, defended the three youths who were jailed.

DROWNING PROBE ENDS

Investigation was closed today in the drowning of Alfred Noriega, 21-year-old ranch laborer whose body was found in a pond near Brea yesterday.

Police radio brought three separate rescue parties to the scene within half an hour of the first call to the sheriff's office.

Clothes and a flashlight were left beside the pond, indicating the youth had drowned while bathing some time the night before. The body was taken from nine feet of water and removed to the McAulay and Suters mortuary, Fullerton, pending funeral arrangements. Coroner Earl Abbey said there would be no inquest.

Huntington Beach Highway Busiest in County, Except For Two Major State Roads

Huntington Beach boulevard went down today as Orange county's busiest highway except for the two major state arteries. Two intersections on the boulevard carried more traffic during a two-day survey than any others in the county.

Highway Supt. A. A. Beard today announced results of a traffic survey made July 10, Sunday, and July 11, Monday. The intersection of Garden Grove and Huntington Beach boulevards was busiest on Sunday and the crossing of Huntington Beach boulevard and Westminster avenue was busiest the next day.

Third in importance was the intersection of Brea canyon road and Central avenue, which ranked third in number of cars passing on both days.

Besides 10,281 passenger cars passing Garden Grove and Huntington Beach boulevards on Sunday, 2908 Monday.

LARGE STORK GUARDS GIFTS
GARDEN GROVE.—Mrs. H. Louise Lake was honored by Miss Dorothy Knapp, Miss Frances Hammontree and Mrs. Gus Van der Linde with a stork shower given Tuesday evening at Miss Knapp's home on East Garden Grove Blvd.

Centering the tables where a dessert course was served as the guests arrived were little bassinets containing baby dolls watched over by storks on table mirrors. The menu included individual iced in blue and decorated with storks, ice cream centered with pink storks and coffee.

A large stork guarded the gifts presented to the honor guest at the close of the bridge games for which Mrs. Lake received the high score prize, Mrs. Stuart Burnett the consolation award and Mrs. J. W. Mitchell the traveling prize.

Other invited guests were the Misses Juanita Dungan, Phyllis Shreve, Beatrice Delf, Madelyn Short, Myra Lake, Gladys Cockerham, Roxanna and Edith Dales, Mesdames Leland Dunham, Floyd Wildermuth, of Fullerton, Lida Smith of Santa Ana and Clyde Gedney.

South American Visitors in C. M.

COSTA MESA.—Tuesday dinner guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Fowler, 2955 Harbor boulevard, were Dr. and Mrs. Fred Aden and children, Phyllis, Fred, Ruth, Almeda and Melvyn, who are visiting in the United States from their home in Buenos Aires, Argentina; Mrs. Margaret Crosby, Long Beach; Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe N. Hodson and children, Mary Frances, Harold and Margaret, La Habra; Miss Mary Gill, Bakersfield, and C. E. Bunker, Palm Springs.

Dr. and Mrs. Aden, Mrs. Hodson and Mrs. Fowler were college friends, this reunion being the third since the Adens took up residence in Buenos Aires, 20 years ago, where Dr. Aden is president of Ward college.

Costa Mesa Dances
COSTA MESA.—The ladies auxiliary of the Costa Mesa Townspeople will sponsor a dance, Saturday night, in the Townspeople hall on Newport boulevard. Music will be furnished by the Costa Mesa Hillbilly orchestra. Pie and coffee will be served.

Neither did Mrs. Potter-Payne. She evidently couldn't think what to say. She had got some information about the Glenn silverware!

"What's its history?" Beatrice asked.

"Why—why," stammered Mrs. Potter-Payne, "it has been in the family ever since—ever since—"

"1635," supplied Cynthia, feeling sorry for the woman. "Isn't that what you told me?"

"Of course, my dear!" Mrs. Potter-Payne's relief was immense. "I'm so bad at remembering dates! It came over from England with my family in 1635. So, naturally, we value it very highly."

"I've a passion for old silver," Bruce said. "I love to study the various designs. One of these days, I shall make collecting such things a hobby."

Cynthia cut into her wheat-cakes, and wondered if he wasn't already making it a hobby! But she said nothing.

SHE wondered just how the teapot had got back upon the sideboard, where it had been sitting originally. Had Bruce become frightened, and returned it there himself? And was he doing all this talking now to cover up?

She wapped when Mrs. Potter-Payne chanced the subject, and referred to the storm last night. "I scarcely slept a wink. Thunderstorms simply terrify me."

Irene smiled. "You were pretty wide awake even before the storm. She turned to the others. "Mother came wandering in to see me at the most ungodly hour."

"Of course," Mother?" interrogated Tommy slyly.

"About what?" his mother bristled.

"Oh, about what time Bruce brought your darling daughter home," said Tommy, not meaning that at all.

He knew perfectly well that his mother had hoped Bruce and Irene would settle matters while in Charlotte, and that she couldn't go to sleep until she had found out just what was what.

MISSING AUTO FOUND ACROSS ORANGE STREET

ORANGE.—W. F. Crist, 192 North Pine street, was surprised yesterday to discover while cleaning his garage, that a coupe belonging his daughter, Miss Nelle Crist, was missing. He was certain the coupe was on the driveway, because he had pushed it there.

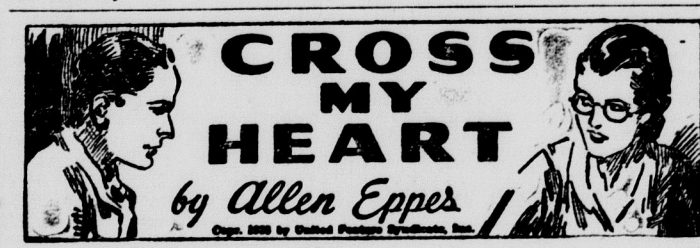

When Orange police arrived they found the coupe on the curb at the northeast corner of Pine and Palm streets—clear across the street from the Crist garage on the southeast corner of the street.

Crist apparently had forgotten to apply the brakes, and the driverless machine had rolled down the steep driveway, and backed clear across the intersection in a crescent curve.

Costa Mesa Party Drives to Elsinore

COSTA MESA.—Recent guests at the Donald Gibson home, 1935 Harbor boulevard, were Mrs. Gibson's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Gardner Truesdell of Los Angeles; Mr. and Mrs. William Cooper and son, Clifford, of Anaheim and Mrs. Gibson's brother, Hugh Truesdell of La Canada.

On Tuesday, the Gibsons accompanied by Mrs. Gibson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Truesdale, of Shandon, motored to Elsinore, where they spent the day.

Cynthia Glenn is unpredictable. Hence, Peter Moore, in love with her, is not surprised by her latest "crazy scheme." In her absence, she rented her ancestral Southern home to the newly-rich Mrs. Potter-Payne, who is trying to create a "background" for herself with the hope of marrying her daughter.

A silver teapot is stolen by the suspects Bruce, Bruce's sister, Irene, and Cynthia, who is feeling suddenly devilish.

"Exactly!" "I suppose you yourself were married from this house?" "Oh, yes—yes, indeed!"

TOMMY abruptly rose. Cynthia, giving him a quick glance, saw from his face that he was fed up with his mother's fibs.

"I'll meet you outside. Miss Smith," he said.

"I'll be with you in a moment," said Cynthia. "Just let me finish my coffee."

"Where are you two going?" Mrs. Potter-Payne asked.

"Out to look at a farm," Cynthia told her.

"Yes, a farm!" said Tommy, almost viciously.

"Yes, like the one my mother, and then to Beatrice, apologetically, "I never knew any one with such a mania for farming. He's even thinking of buying a farm! Imagine that!—like the stairs in this house," said Cynthia, feeling suddenly devilish.

He rudely ignored her. "Coming. Miss Smith?" he said.

Cynthia pushed back her chair, and smiled at Mrs. Potter-Payne.

"But Mary has her orders," she said. "But Mary has her orders."

"All right, my dear." Then Mrs. Potter-Payne leaned close to her and said softly, "Do try to use your common sense with Tommy, won't you? You know what I mean..."

Gathering an intimate little group of friends together to share in a pre-nuptial event for Miss Eleanor Metzgar, Miss Mildred Spicer was hostess at dessert and bridge last evening in her home at 2348 North Park boulevard.

Guests enjoyed a delicious desert course with pastel flowers adding to their pleasure, and at contract later Miss Ethel Walker was winner of high score prize and Miss Metzgar herself won second.

A delightful feature of the evening, first of several affairs planned for Miss Metzgar before her wedding to Reuel W. Klein in August, was the presentation of dainty Spode cups and saucers to her by the assembled group.

Guests of Miss Spicer, who was assisted in her hostess duties by her mother, Mrs. Charles Spicer, were Mrs. Wyckoff Hoxie, Mrs. John Tesmann, Miss Ethel Walker, Mrs. Bertha Klein, Mrs. Douglas Paterson, Mrs. Victor Morrison, Miss Wilma Hoy, Miss Marian Brownridge, Miss Mary Bowyer, and the bride-elect's mother and sister, Mrs. Joseph H. MOTHER AND DAUGHTER FETE FRIENDS

Mrs. Abbie Buxton Oakes and her daughter, Miss Mary Oakes, 1525 North Ross street, gave a delightful informal luncheon recently for their old friends, Capt. and Mrs. Arnold Evanston of Glendale.

Occasion for the affair was Mrs. Evanston's birthday anniversary, and to fittingly celebrate that Miss Oakes had baked a lovely cake, dahlias and exquisite Transvaal daisies were decorations for the intimate party, at which the other guest was Miss Julia Holmes of Duarte, a schoolmate of the birthday honoree and a sister of George Holmes of Santa Ana.

SECOND PARTY REPEATS NOVEL THEME

Repeating the enjoyable informality of serving box lunches to her guests as she did the day before, Mrs. Charles Swanner was hostess again yesterday at a gay little party in her beach cottage.

Four tables were in play after luncheon, and Mrs. Swanner presented high score prizes to Mrs. J. Wayne Harrison and Mrs. William Stauffer.

SETTLEMENT INDICATED IN $326,000 SUIT

Suit for $326,000 by the widow and four children of an auto accident victim had been dismissed in superior court today, with negotiations for a settlement pending.

Mrs. Grace M. Qualls, widow of Edward G. Qualls, filed a dismissal "without prejudice," meaning the case may be renewed if settlement negotiations fall through.

She had filed suit on behalf of herself and four children against Dr. Roy E. Jernstrom of Rapid City, S. D., driver of a car involved in a crash with the Qualls' auto near La Habra June 3 in which her husband was killed.

Dr. Jernstrom had filed a demurrer and also had asked that the case, being litigation between citizens of different states, be removed to the United States district court.

Boy Stays In Jail Until He Makes Up Mind About Trial

Joe Munoz, 19-year-old laborer of 907 Stafford street, will have a court trial Aug. 3 on assault and battery charges—43, still in the county jail trying to make up his mind.

Cimeros can't decide whether he wants a court or jury trial. Arraigned before Justice Kenneth Morrison Tuesday, he wanted time to decide. Brought back into court yesterday, he still hadn't made up his mind. Judge Morrison gave him until Friday to say which sort of trial he wants.

The two men are accused of beating Joe Guillen in a fracas last Saturday night. Both have pleaded not guilty.

Inheritance Tax On Estate Set at $174

Inheritance taxes of $174.09 were computed today on the $8425 personal estate left by the late Silas M. Weymouth, Metropolitan water district engineer, who died March 21.

Bradford Weymouth, jr., a nephew, and Josephine Weymouth, a niece, each will pay $84.42 tax out of inheritances valued at $3688.46 each. Mrs. Freda Phillips, non-relative to whom Mr. Weymouth bequeathed $125 worth of furniture, will pay tax of $5.25, according to reports filed in superior court.

A study made of the labor done by a farm housewife over a period of 30 years showed that she prepared approximately 235,425 meals. The labor cost at 15c a meal would be over $35,000.

TOWNSEND NEWS, VIEWS

By WALTER R. ROBB

(This column deals with Townsend news and views. Any views which are expressed herein are not necessarily those of The Journal.)

Miss Kay Colleen Berry, 24 years old, University of Southern California graduate, was the Townsend speaker before Santa Ana clubs Nos. 6 and 8 Tuesday evening in Santa Ana Townsend hall. She proved herself to be a splendid speaker with fine voice and splendid ability. It was her first appearance before Orange county clubs but judging by the applause she received and the expressions of praise that were heard on every side when the meeting was over, she will have many calls to appear at other times before the clubs of the county.

The Hurd-Lentz orchestra opened the evening program with a fine concert and later in the evening interspersed other numbers. This organization is very popular in Orange county and appears frequently before the Townsend clubs. Members of the organization include Earl Lentz, guitar; Charles B. Hurd, banjo; Onie Sanders, guitar; Louie Stevens, violin; Maxine Reeves, steel guitar; Ray Isenberg, bass violin; and Rags Boys, accordion. These people are all Santa Ana people and have done much to make the Townsend meetings successful and interesting.

James H. Nicholson, president of Santa Ana club No. 8, called the meeting to order and later introduced the young speaker. Mrs. Bertha Thompson, secretary, read the minutes of the last meeting and Mrs. Jacob C. Best, treasurer, reported concerning the club finances. The usual opening remarks were employed and then Miss Berry presented to the waiting audience of approximately 150 persons.

Speaking extemporaneously, without notes and with a force that is born of a conviction of the correctness of the Townsend plan principles, the young lady argued with statistics, apt humor, illustrations and with telling logic the need of the Townsend plan being made the law. She told of the 12,000,000 unemployed in the nation and the privations being suffered by them and their families and the loss that was being suffered by the nation's business interests as a result of their continued inability to buy what business institutions have for sale. Many of these people, she said, were unaware of the benefits which would accrue to them from the Townsend plan in operation and illustrated this fact with personal contacts which she herself had personally made with such parties.

She deplored the lack of opportunities for employment of the millions of educated young people annually being graduated from the nation's high schools and colleges. There was a time, she said, when such young people looked forward to filling responsible positions when having finished college and she deprecated that generally such hope no longer exists. Crime increases among the young folks below the age of 25, she attributed to the lack of employment opportunities. The Townsend plan, in operation, she averred, would correct much of the tendency on the part of youth to indulge in crime.

Miss Berry said many worthwhile things which lack of space will not permit reporting. She proved herself sincerely a Townsendite with a capability that will help her win many of her own age to becoming boosters for the Townsend national recovery plan principles, this writer predicts. She is informing, logical and convincing, and so natural and unpretentious as to be exceedingly likable. These qualities and capabilities were quickly detected by her Townsend audience and when her 35-minute speech was concluded the audience gave a wonderful demonstration of its great appreciation by heavy applause. This continued until the young lady responded with a brief encore statement and of her appreciation for the hearty reception accorded her. Announcements were made concerning other important meetings to follow during the week, the Townsend pledge was recited and the audience dismissed.

Don't forget the opportunity Santa Ana Townsendites will have of hearing Judge Herbert L. Sweet speak in Townsend hall at 7:30 tonight. He is from Los Angeles and for 17 years has been lecturing in almost all of the 48 states of the union. The Hurd-Lentz orchestra will furnish the music. Philip S. Doolittle, president of Santa Ana club No. 3, will introduce the speaker to tonight's audience.

Walter R. Robb of Santa Ana will speak for the Huntington Beach club No. 1 in the beautiful Memorial hall on Magnolia and Sixth streets at 7:30 tonight. A. D. Marshall will preside.

Mayor C. T. Johnson, Republican-Townsend endorsed candidate for congress from the 19th district, and George Vose, the Billy Sunday of the Townsend movement, will be the speakers before a Townsend mass meeting being held in the Costa Mesa Woman's club building at 7:30 tonight. Ruth Burdick Williams, oratorio and concert artist from New York city will sing. This will be a worthwhile meeting. Everybody welcome.

A joint meeting of Santa Ana clubs Nos. 1 and 7 will be held in the Roosevelt school on East First street at 7:30 tomorrow night. Entertainment in the form of sleight of hand performances by the Gordon family will be a feature of the meeting. You will be welcome.

2-Year-Old Orange County Boy Assessed $2382 Tax On Estate He Has Inherited

Inheritance taxes totaling $2382.78 were assessed today against a 2-year-old boy, one of Orange county's richest children.

HATFIELD HITS AT CIO AND PRAISES AFL

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Praising the AFL and rapping the CIO for what he said was its "communism and radical leadership," Lieut. Gov. George Hatfield's stand on labor issues was a matter of record today.

Hatfield, candidate for the Republican nomination for governor, described sit-down strikes as "unlawful trespass and seizure of property," in an address here last night. He said that if elected governor he would use peaceful mediation in solving labor disputes, but would not tolerate lawlessness.

"The CIO, if it is to command public confidence, must purge itself of communism and radical leadership," Hatfield said. "It must rid itself of enemies of the American flag and the American form of government who are using the labor movement as the shield for a desperate attempt to sow the seeds of class hatred and civil war and run out the door."

Of the AFL, Hatfield said: "It has been a tremendous factor in the upbuilding of labor. I believe that it was largely entitled to the credit for the fact that America, today, in the highest standard of living and the finest wage scales in the world."

VETERANS AT NURSE'S RITES

Eleven Santa Ana members of the Disabled American Veterans of the World war and its auxiliary attended funeral services in Long Beach yesterday for a departed comrade, Miss Emma Roher, an army nurse who died this week of a disease contracted in France during the war.

Pallbearers at the funeral, which was conducted at Huddle and Bonwell chapel in Long Beach by the Long Beach D. A. V. chapter, included Commander Virgil Marr, Adj. A. H. Jones and Arthur Neilson of Santa Ana. Jones sounded "taps" at the graveside.

Others attending from Santa Ana were Mrs. Ella Pickard, Van Leonard Brown, Michael Lynch, Frank Wilcox, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Triplett and Mr. and Mrs. N. R. Crouse.

SHEPPARD'S TRIP DELAYED

Congressman Harry R. Sheppard, detained by meetings in San Bernardino county today and was unable to reach Santa Ana in time to open his office as scheduled.

Sheppard will be here this evening, however, to address the meeting of Santa Ana General Welfare Center in the Unitarian church at 7:45. His subject will be "Why the General Welfare Act, H. R. 4199, Was Not Passed."

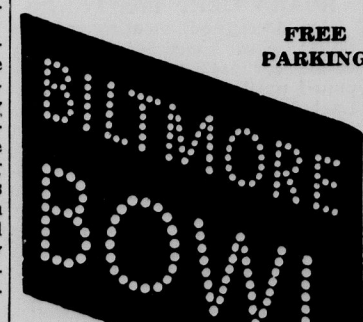

Sheppard will have his office on the second floor of the postoffice building starting tomorrow morning and continuing through August 16.

21 Candidates at Breakfast Meeting

Mayor Fred Rowland introduced 21 candidates this morning to the Breakfast club membership at the Main cafeteria. Each responded briefly.

The introductions were interspersed with a few jocular puns by the mayor, with occasional responses from candidates who found opportunity to strike back with sparkling repartee.

The musical part of the program consisted of tenor solos by Frank Marr, accompanied by Miss Ruth Hawley. The program for next week was assigned to C. E. Lindsey.

WIFE SLAIN AS EFFORT TO WIN HER BACK FAILS

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Death came to the reconciliation dinner at which Glenn Elmore, 32, Long Beach auto repair shop operator, had hoped to win back his wife.

As the dinner broke up unhappily last night, Sheriff's Deputy Robert Jones said, Elmore shot and killed Mrs. Irene Elmore, 28, and then was captured in an automobile chase before he could make good his threat to kill himself.

The slaying occurred in the La Crescenta home of Mrs. E. L. Sherwood, who had helped arrange the meeting of the estranged couple, married two years.

Robert Lee Johnson of Wilmington, step-father of Mrs. Elmore, told deputies her husband shouted, "You can't run away from me," as he fired at her twice in a rear bedroom.

Johnson said Elmore flung away his pistol and ran out the door, crying, "Don't stop me. I am going to kill myself." He was taken into custody a few minutes later.

'RAGE OF PARIS' OPENS TODAY

Danielle Darrieux, idol of the European screen, makes her American debut in "The Rage of Paris," Universal comedy romance, which opens at Walker's theater today. Jane Withers is seen in the co-feature, "Rascals."

"The Rage of Paris" was filmed at a cost to the studios of more than one million dollars. The story presents Miss Darrieux as the heroine of a romance involving an advertising man and a rich playboy.

Douglas Fairbanks, jr., is co-starred with Miss Darrieux. The supporting cast is headed by two comedy favorites, Mischa Auer and Helen Broderick, and features Louis Hayward.

Rolling along singing a song, Jane Withers has gone gypsy in "Rascals." Rochelle Hudson and Robert Wilcox romance around the campfires, and Borrah Minevitch and his gang are additional featured players in the film.

"The Bolted Door," a Floyd Gibbons adventure reel, and "Isle of Pingo Pongo," color cartoon, together with a newsreel, complete the bill.

Pasadenan Held In Nevada Death Case

MINDEN, Nev. (AP)—A charge of careless driving faced George Holmes, 38, a counselor of youth in the Pasadena department of education, here today following an automobile accident yesterday which resulted in the death of Peter Chang, 53, widely known Carson valley rancher.

The misdemeanor charge against Holmes was filed last yesterday after a coroner's jury found Chang's death was caused indirectly by Holmes' careless driving.

Some Methods Orange Selling Held Outmoded

This is a second of a series of articles by prominent Orange county citizens on the citrus situation. The Journal, offering its columns as a public forum in an effort to provide free exchange of ideas concerning the community's most important industry, has invited widely known persons to contribute articles to the series.

By H. D. NEWKIRK

Recently you asked me to give an opinion as to why the grower does not receive more for his oranges.

Hastily and foolishly I agreed to give my opinion in writing. This is a question which should not be handled lightly. Unless one has facts to back up statements he should not offer opinions—and there are few who have the necessary data and at the same time are unbiased in their opinions.

I have put this question to a dozen or more persons in the last day or so and have received almost as many different answers. It is easy to say that the selling organization is not competent, but quite another thing to prove it. It is easy to draw almost any conclusion on short notice, but one finds, when he tries to reason it through, that such statements hastily made are likely to be entirely wrong.

The best I can do is to repeat some of the statements others have made to me, fully realizing that probably these statements are more or less incorrect; or at least that they cannot be backed with actual figures.

One man believes our marketing organization is defective. He states that a friend of his purchased oranges in New York at 19c a dozen, and on the same day in a suburb observed oranges of a similar size and grade priced at 40c a dozen. He states that oranges for which the grower has received only 50c per box sell to the retail trade in certain instances for six or seven dollars per box, showing lack of control of the sales organization clear through to the consumer.

Another man states that the independent buyers return more money to the growers than the Exchange. But we know that in some cases the growers have lost everything by dealing with independent buyers.

Others find fault with the salaries of executives, from exchange manager down to field foreman, stating that salaries are disproportionate. Yet the answer is that one or two cents a box will take care of this easily.

A very important point is lack of co-operation among the growers themselves. The managers of the various packing houses direct the directors, instead of directors directing the management. Each manager installs a different accounting system, makes use of a different size packing box, and avoids uniformity in all details which would make comparison possible. A director may be poorly informed, in which case he is the pawn of the manager. Well informed directors and packing house managers who are unbiased in their opinions are not easy to find.

Overproduction is the complaint voiced by many in a year like this. Next year, however, there may be a light crop with high prices which will cause marginal growers to forget their complaints and all the basic work done for the benefit of the grower.

Marginal growers, by the way, never will make a profit except under extraordinary conditions and they are usually the loudest in their fault-finding. Let such growers see that had they used better judgment and paid more for good land and good trees in the first place they would have been ahead in the end. They must realize that they compete with good groves which are practically frost-free, producing from 800 to 1000 boxes a year almost consistently, and if they will check these figures against their own, or even the average of two to four boxes per tree, with either a wind or a frost every year to spoil the grade or lessen production, they will see that the fault lies with the intrinsic values of their own grove—location, poor soil, etc., and not with the industry itself—management, high salaries, etc.

Another factor at the present time is the poor buying power in the east. Men on the WPA making $52.50 a month cannot buy oranges. Their money must go for essentials.

The weather also has been a factor this year. I understand that until recently it has been fairly cool in the east with only occasional warm spells. The market should improve as the heat intensifies.

When we complain of small return we must realize what prices might have been without the pro rate. As it is, the market started off very poorly on account of a number of conditions (especially the large crop to be moved), but by holding fast to the pro rate they have been able to raise the market price in spite of conditions. At this time things look much brighter than they did a month ago.

Miller Laughs At Charges That He Lobbied For Federal Grants

POLITICS NOT USED, INSISTS BALBOA MAN

BALBOA, Calif. (AP)—Bald, bespectacled Glenn E. Miller, 49-year-old former San Francisco bond broker, today laughed at charges he "lobbied" in Washington for 21 Southern California PWA and WPA applications.

"I'm no lobbyist," said Miller at his beach home here.

"There were no politics or influence used by me, and I made no such representations to the people that engaged me," he added.

At the "proper time," he added, he will make a "complete statement" on the criticism recently leveled at him by PWA administrator Harold L. Ickes, who suspended PWA loans in which Miller figured.

A PWA investigator, Carl Endres, is now in Santa Ana studying the framing of the $59,000 Orange county storm drain application.

Minutes of the Orange county flood control district show that Miller was paid $1000 by the county supervisors for "legal" and "advisory" services in 1937 in connection with the federal grant.

Present at last night's meeting were Don Parks, grand master; Ralph Fuller, treasurer; Murray Patton, vice grand; Charley Sawyer, historian; "Kenny" Warren, secretary, and Charles Palmer, Carrol Joy, Al Wright, Cecil Starnes and Howard Piper, a pledge.

An informal party was enjoyed by the fraternity last week at which Charles Palmer, Ralph Fuller, Murray Patton and Howard Piper were hosts.

Bonelli Will Talk To Peace Officers

William C. Bonelli, member of the state board of equalization, will speak on liquor control and the co-operation of peace officers with the board in the state set-up, at a regular meeting of the Orange County Peace Officers association to be held August 3, 6:30 p. m., at Swanson's Cafe, 1807 North Main street. Reservations should be made through Hunter Leach, president of the association.

State NYA Leader Due Tomorrow

Mrs. Anne Treadwell, state head of the National Youth Administration, is expected to make an official call at the Orange County NYA office in the Santa Ana postoffice building tomorrow.

Director M. E. Barnhill, of the local office, will return today from San Diego where he has been attending a conference of district managers.

$1,240,805 Paid World War Veterans and Dependents In Orange County Since '30

Orange county war veterans, widows, orphans and dependent parents have received a total of $1,240,805.89 since the Veterans' Welfare Service bureau was established May 1, 1930, Veterans' Welfare Officer Harry Edwards reported today.

Edwards' annual report showed benefits of $269,355.01 in the fiscal year between May 1, 1931, and April 30, 1932, when the depression was at its depth.

Benefits the first year, including tax exemptions, claims, hospital service, burials and other aids to veterans and their families, totaled $263,763.14. Last year benefits were listed at $92,712.47. Seven hundred and 22 benefits were handled during the office's latest year of existence, with 6794 office contacts and 6000 telephone calls. Edwards said he traveled 6437 miles.

Plans for a labor day parade in Santa Ana Sept. 5 in which 5000 representatives from county civic and labor organizations will march were disclosed this morning by William R. Pratt, American Federation of Labor representative, who is in charge of arrangements.

Pratt said he is mailing invitations to scores of organizations throughout the county asking them to enter the affair. He believes that it is possible for 5000 persons to take part, inasmuch as some 4500 persons last year attended a Labor day picnic at an Orange county park. Most of those participating in the affair were from Orange county and were representatives of labor groups and civic organizations, he related.

Following the parade a picnic will be held at some location in the county to be announced later. Pratt said an informal invitation from Huntington Beach has already been received and that city may get the bid for the large gathering.

The Orange chapter of the American Red Cross is today sending advanced first aid certificates to the following persons in this area:

A. W. Ames, Olive; G. R. Atherton, J. W. Cummings, Homer Davis, Ben Fairchild, C. E. Fenton, Floyd Higgins, Joe Hendricks, Mr. and Mrs. Carl L. Lucas, Jack Newton and Edwin L. Stanley, all of Orange.

BLADE JUST MISSES LUNG, SAY DOCTORS

E. B. Swope, 55, Costa Mesa landlord, was charged with assault today in the nearly-fatal stabbing of his tenant, D. A. Doane, in an early morning fracas. Swope was arraigned before Justice D. J. Dodge of Newport township today, following arrest by sheriff's officers when Doane, a knife-wound over his left lung, was taken to the county hospital. The landlord pleaded not guilty to simple assault charges before Justice Dodge and court trial was set for Aug. 3. He was released on his own recognizance.

Doane's condition was pronounced not serious, but physicians said the knife blade barely missed puncturing a lung. Swope told officers he went to property owned by him at 830 West Eighth street, Costa Mesa, to give Doane notice to move out. In the ensuing argument, Swope said Doane pursued him with a club and a pistol.

The Mariners must stand watches and assume all shipboard duties except preparation of meals—men do that. Captain Irving Johnson of the Yankee will give instruction in navigation.

What is this thing called a kilowatt-hour?

★ Most people know that a kilowatt-hour (KWH) has something to do with their electric bill, but beyond that the word is a mystery. The kilowatt-hour is used in the electrical industry to measure electricity just as the dairyman uses quarts to measure milk. The diagrams on this page will help you understand just what a kilowatt-hour is and what it means to you in terms of useful service.

A watt-hour is the amount of energy needed to lift a 1 lb. weight 26 2/3 feet.

watt-hour is too small a unit for convenient measurement, so we use the kilowatt-hour which is

1000 watt-hours.  A kilowatt-hour is equal to 1000 watts being continuously utilized for a period of 1 hour. Thus one 100-watt lamp burning for 10 hours would consume 1 kilowatt-hour.  1 kilowatt-hour is equivalent to 13 men working for one hour. The average home consumes 50 kilowatt-hours a month—equal to 650 men hours of labor. If you paid this man only 25c an hour, it would cost you $162.50. Yet the average family pays $2.50 or less for an equivalent service.

3 Boys and Girl Suffocated In Cave

CLEVELAND. (AP)—The suffocation of three boys and a girl beneath tons of earth was laid today to a childish urge to make a cave "to hide in if it rains."

Will Help You With Your Clothes Problem. Write Her!

I have long had a secret desire to snatch up some languishing designer who thinks life today is stale (a New Yorker, of course) and plump him down beside me in a very excellent seat at a very excellent table—as at the recent Salinas one. He would be most exhilarated than the mythical woman with all her monkey glands. And the fringed skirts and leather costumes, the horses and spurs and steers in embroidered or print designs—to say nothing of colors that would creep into his next collection would probably set the fashion world spinning—with delight!

I was thinking, too, it's a pity the men's fashions are not a bit affected by the cowboy fashions! The mass of cowboys, surrounding the far side of the arena was even more colorful than the blue and red and green feminine costumes dotting the summery grandstand on our side! It does tickle the eye to see strutting great men in soft silk shirts of vibrant colors with bare neck and the summer breeze blowing out their shirts! Too bad our famed horse-men must forever shuffle about in scratchy wool of drabest colors.

Thinking of next year (we fashion writers do have to keep ahead!) I made note to remind all Salinas-bent rodeo fans that a temperate enigma always exists there—as it does, in fact, whenever warm California summer dabbles with the sea! Walking to grandstand from the parking area it was all I could do to keep the wind from snatching my hat right off my head. Inside the grandstand it was not enough for men to wear ten cent straw protection arrangements, and for women to buy Japanese parasols.

And yet—long before the sun had begun setting—and before the rodeo was over people began bobbing up all over the place—putting on the wool top coats they had brought with them. Over the Pacific those breezes do come—changing back mid-summer into cool spring.

GIANTS FADE; PIRATES LEAD BY 5 GAMES

Hostak Title Ignored

PROVIDENCE, R. I. (AP)—The National Boxing association will recognize Al Hostak of Seattle as world middleweight champion despite the action of the New York commission in declaring the title vacant, said Edward C. Foster, executive secretary of the N. B. A., today.

Neither will the N. B. A. pay any attention to the New York board's action in taking from John Henry Lewis the light-heavyweight championship, declared Foster.

By DREW MIDDLETON
NEW YORK. (AP)—Two fellows who thought they were world champions, John Henry Lewis, the light heavyweight, and Al Hostak, the middleweight who knocked out Freddie Steele Tuesday night, find it "just ain't so" as far as New York state is concerned.

The state's athletic commission met yesterday and before you could say "Joe Louis" declared Lewis' title vacant in this state and declined to accept Hostak as the middleweight champion of the world.

Lewis' declaration was based on his refusal to meet Tiger Jack Fox, the elderly Seattle negro, in a title bout. The commission won't recognize Hostak because Steele, who held the title before Tuesday's fight, ignored a challenge by Fred Apostoli of San Francisco.

DEMPSEY PROTESTS
SEATTLE. (AP)—Jack Dempsey today joined the protest of the Seattle boxing world against the New York Athletic commission's refusal to recognize Al Hostak as middleweight champion of the world.

"It's the most ridiculous thing I ever heard of," said Dempsey who refereed the Hostak-Steele fight. "Championships change hands in the ring and not in any commission's office."

Gus Greenlee, manager of Lewis, and Eddie Marino, Hostak's handler, broke into impassioned oratory when they heard the news.

"I'll sue, that's what I'll do. I've been waiting for this and my lawyer says we have a case for half a million dollars," sputtered Greenlee, who has a liking for large, round figures there wants to get control of boxing," yelled Marino, when he heard the commission wouldn't accept his batter unless Hostak beats the winner of an Apostoli-Young Corbett fight. He and Hostak are willing to fight Apostoli—but in New York.

The commission lined up an elimination series for Lewis' title, among Fox, who challenged Lewis Feb. 10; Al Gainer, of New Haven, Conn.; Mello Bettina, the Beacon, N. Y., southerner; and Gus Greenlee, of Edgewood, N. J. Lewis, who may fight Adolph Heuser in Germany in August, would be the wrong side of the gate.

Mike Jacobs, head of the potent 20th Century Sporting club, will attempt to make the matches.

The tournament will be a break for Tiger Jack Fox. He has been knocking around for years trying to get a shot at the title. A terrific hitter, he thinks he can slap anyone in his division stiff.

The commission also ordered a 15-round elimination bout between Small Montana, San Francisco, and the Japanese Katsuma Marikoka, who has been campaigning in Canada, to help find a flyweight champion. The winner probably will meet Little Dado, the Filipino who has been doing so well on the coast.

Benny Lynch lost the title when he failed to make weight for a title bout with Jackie Jurich, of San Jose, Calif.

Five years ago—Chuck Klein led National league in hitting with .370 and Al Simmons paced American with .361.

AN UMPIRE'S LIFE IS ONE OF MISERY IN OUR NIGHTBALL PARKS

Apparently working on the theory that heated squabbles produce color, and color produces gate receipts, some of the National Nightball league have gone out of their way to make life miserable for the umpires this season.

Do the fans pay their money to hear all this "beefing" or do they come to see Paul Wright the game? We rather believe most of them would appreciate less talk and more softball.

In fact, we have heard numerous complaints that unless the teams soft-pedal this squawking, they are going to lose what few customers they have retained.

S. S. (Shorty) Smith, Arch Hawkins, Chet Congdon and Francis (Pep) Lemon, among others, have learned to take criticism in stride. Hawkins and Lemon merely chuckle, as if to say, "No matter how we call the close ones, we're always wrong. Smith refuses to take much criticism because Smith knows it is his privilege to bench any player or manager who gets out of line. Congdon is a hustler, and one of the best arbiters in the league. All of these men are honest, and would gain much more respect in regulation baseball. Certainly, they miss 'em once in awhile. But what umpire doesn't?

There are better ways of obtaining so-called color than staging protests after every play. Let's see more softball and less arguments.

Rip Russell on Rampage as Angels Gain 2-Game Lead

By the Associated Press
Rip Russell snapped out of a batting slump with a run-making bang last night to pace the Los Angeles Angels to a 12-to-4 win over the Portland Beavers and give Seattle a 6-to-3 victory. In the Pacific Coast league baseball game.

Russell drove in five Los Angeles runs and scored two himself with a home run and three singles in four trips to the plate. While Russell was snapping out of it at Los Angeles, Relief Pitcher Paul Gregory limited the second place Sacramento Solons to one scratch hit in six innings to give Seattle a 6-to-3 victory.

In the eighth inning Gregory broke a 3-to-3 deadlock when he brought a run home with a two-bagger. Nicking three Oakland pitchers for 19 hits, the San Francisco Seals made it two in a row over the lowly Oaks, 12 to 5.

Lou Tost, promising Hollywood Stars pitcher, weakened just long enough in the last of the ninth inning to give the San Diego Padres a 1-to-0 shutout over the Stars. He walked Spencer Harris and then Joe Berkowitz smashed a triple to score Harris. Tost and Jim Chaplin of San Diego each allowed five hits.

328-LB. MARLIN IS CAPTURED
SAN DIEGO. (AP)—The largest marlin reported this season and the second largest in the history of the San Diego Marlin club, was landed yesterday south of the Coronado Islands by William Sarsfield, San Diego sportsman. The fish weighed 328½ pounds as against the record catch of 385 made in 1934 by L. H. E. Barrow.

Bronko Nagurski Fails to Show For Olympic Go
LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Dr. Patrick O'Callaghan, Ireland's former Olympic hammer throw champion, scored another professional wrestling victory last night by tossing Chief Little Wolf.

K. O. Koverly, substituting for Bronko Nagurski, who failed to appear, lost to Sandor Szabo after the latter was knocked out with a brass-knuckled wallop.

Koverly won the second fall and dropped the third. But K. O.'s early roughness and disqualification in the first fall gave Szabo his winning margin.

Fresno Gridders To Train Sept. 6
FRESNO. (AP)—Jimmy Bradshaw, Fresno State college football coach, said today that the college football squad would go to Santa Cruz about Sept. 6 for a week's training. About 45 men will make the trip, he declared.

Three years ago—Max Schmeling's demand for $150,000 for September bout refused by both New York promoters.

Morelli Battles Christy

Tony Morelli and Ted Christy will clash tonight in the main event on the weekly wrestling card of the Orange County Athletic club. The Morelli-Christy bout is half of a double main event that has been arranged by Promoter "Bud" Levin. The show opens at 8:30 o'clock.

In the second half of the double main go, Cecil Magill, rangy Long Beach grappler, will meet Ken Hollis, the "bad man" from Texas. Both matches will be for two out of three falls to a finish.

For the semi-windup, the "Red Devil" of West Virginia wrestles Don Juan Sebastian in a 45-minute, one fall match. Sebastian, one of the strongest men in wrestling today, will tangle with another strong man of the mat when he meets the "Red Devil." In addition to being a strong man, the "Red Devil" is one of the most skillful wrestlers ever to show in the local arena.

In the preliminary match Bill Hall, 6 feet, 6 inches tall and known as the "Human Bean Pole," will wrestle Tony Garibaldi.

Lou Chiozza Lost To Giants' Nine

Terry's Champs Barely Cling To Third Place

By SID FEDER
Associated Press Sports Writer
They said it can't happen here. They said that no matter how bad those Giants looked with bats in their hands, their defense would always hold them up. They said that strictly on pitching and fielding alone, those Giants would always get along.

But, after listening to all that for years, you can take a look at the latest developments in the National league race, and (shades of John McGraw!) there's the very thing they said couldn't happen, happening all over the place. HUBBELL HOLDS UP

The great pitching, except for King Carl Hubbell who's carrying the entire burden again, is about as useful as a hot water bottle at the equator. The airtight fielding is up around the stratosphere. And the Terrible Terry Terriers of '36 and '37 are wallowing around a half game ahead of third place, five games back of the Pittsburgh Pirates, and looking more like the Phillies than the Phillies do themselves.

They've lost five games in a row, the latest a 7-0 four-hit white-washing applied by long Lon Warneke and the Cardinals yesterday. They've dropped eight of their last 10, and in their last 68 games—since their early season streak of 18 victories and three setbacks, in fact—they've played under .500 ball.

They're only holding second place today because the revived Chicago Cubs developed a case of butter-fingers last night and let the Dodgers score three times in the ninth inning for a 3-2 Brooklyn win.

Bill Terry is frantically switching his lineup trying to get a winning combination, but nothing seems to be working. The Cards did all their scoring in one inning yesterday because the defense came apart at the seams. Dick Bartell's error put one man on base, and Johnny McCarthy's fumble should have been the third out. Then the roof fell in.

Since Pep Young had himself a big day, driving in four runs to pace the Pirates to a 4-2 win over the Phillies, the Bucs were left five games out in front. Deacon Danny MacFayden and Lou Pette tossed a pair of five-hit games and the Boston Bees belted the Cincinnati Reds twice, 1-0 and 5-1.

YANKEES RETAIN LEAD
Over in the American league, the Yankees held their game-and-a-half edge on the Cleveland Indians, but the spotlight remained focussed on Hankus-Pankus Greenberg, Detroit's dynamiter in chief, who belted a pair of homers for the second straight day to lead the Tigers to a 9-4 win over the Senators and boost the Detroitis back into fifth place.

The two-round trippers were Hank's 32nd and 33rd of the year and put him seven games up, for this date, on Babe Ruth's record 1927 campaign.

Rookie relief hurler, Steve Sundra, pitched 3-2-3 innings of hitless ball, hit a homer and a run-producing single and gave the Yanks a 7-5 decision over the St. Louis Browns. The second game of what was to have been a double-washed out.

KEY TO THE PAST... One of the most remarkable episodes in the history of archeology was the finding in 1799 of the famous Rosetta Stone, which provided a key to translation of ancient Egyptian, a feat until that time unaccomplished. Divided into three parts, each a translation of the other, the Rosetta Stone presents in Egyptian hieroglyphics, in demotic writing and in Greek a decree of 195 B. C. honoring Ptolemy V Epiphanes. By comparing the known Greek with the unknown Egyptian writings, the "dead" Egyptian language was unfolded to modern civilization for the first time. The work of translating this famous basalt tablet proved to be no simple matter. Strange as it seems, to unlock 6000 years of ancient Egyptian history required 20 years of work by one man—Champollion, a French scholar.

Texas Votes a Change

They were accustomed to solemn-faced professionals who knew all about political affairs of the state.

But a man who could sell flour and croon "Beautiful Texas," who could promise more businesslike government and fatter pensions, and do it all to hillbilly rhythm—well, such a candidate for governor was different. So the people of Texas voted for a change.

And caught in that sweep was the honored Texas custom of sending the same men year after year to Washington, a practice which has placed Lone Star representatives high in congressional seniority.

That "continuity in office" idea was what advanced John N. Garner to party leadership and to the speakership and made him available for the vice presidency. It made Sam Rayburn house party leader and heir-apparent to the speakership. And it gave Texans more committee chairmanships than can be boasted by any other state's delegation.

At least two Texans who were headed for greater positions in congress were stopped in their tracks by ballots.

Morgan Sanders' seniority promised to make him soon the chairman of the house committee on ways and means, the most powerful in congress. But he was defeated by a 25-year-old who worked up greater campaign steam on the pension issue.

The other casualty was Rep. Maury Maverick, who, though only in his second term, had established himself as the undisputed leader of the liberal bloc in the house, that group of about 100 so-called Maverick Progressives.

A third who seems destined to remain at home is Rep. W. D. MacFarlane, another loyal New Dealer, who likewise proved to be second-best as an old-age pensions advocate.

On his junket through Texas, President Roosevelt gave his "My Good Friend" blessing to both Maverick and MacFarlane. But the magic failed to work. Mr. Roosevelt withheld that benediction from another Texas congressman, Rep. Hatton Sumners, who did yeoman service in wrecking the President's court bill. And Sumners won by a handsome majority.

Farewell to a Prince

Away goes another illusion. Crown Prince Gustav Adolf of Sweden sent it glimmering.

Leaving our shores after a pleasant vacation during which he made hosts of friends for himself and his country, the next king of Sweden said:

"There are always things to be done at home, you know... a lot of work piles up."

What do you mean, work, Prince? We've always thought all princes had to do was ride around on white horses looking for distressed maidens to rescue.

Work of that kind, of course, couldn't pile up too high for us. But if you mean real work, like paying bills, writing letters, receiving delegations, studying plans, approving and disapproving projects, why, that's not our idea of prince-ing.

Anyway, Prince Gustav Adolf and family, we enjoyed your visit. Come over again some time.

Independent Judges

"The absolute independence of the judiciary—the vital center of our body politic—must be safeguarded against direct or insidious attack," James R. Garfield told the American Bar association, meeting in Cleveland.

Fortunately, America realizes this, as evidence the tremendous protest at the recent proposals to change our supreme court system.

This country has been able to follow the middle line of liberal democracy for the past century and a half because its high court judges, independent of outside pressure, have kept the nation on that course as politicians would swing to one extreme or the other.

As long as we have independent, clear-thinking judges in the highest court, with the power to keep us in that middle way, we won't run into the twin disasters of dictatorship or Communism.

Brave, But Foolish

In a northwestern resort, a boy falls into the water and is drowning.

Near by are a man and a woman; neither could swim. The man who could not swim leaps in to try to save the drowning boy, and they both drown as the agonized wife looks on.

A brave death and a noble one; but a foolish one. Two lives were sacrificed instead of one.

And the real tragedy stands out clearly: If either the boy or the man had known how to swim, neither life would have been lost.

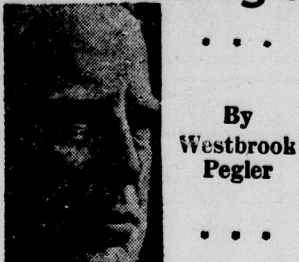

Living as we do in a land of lakes and streams and salt water, it is criminal negligence for parents to allow boys and girls to grow up without the knowledge of how to protect themselves—and others—from death in the water.

Fair Enough

By Westbrook Pegler

NEW YORK — Interviewed in London by a journalist from The Star, Miss Peggy Hopkins Joyce is said to have said: "Everywhere I go they ask me the same two questions—'Are you in love, Peggy?' and 'When are you going to marry?'"

These are intimate questions, and I hereby offer to accept the presidency of a great international order of those who never have asked and never will ask them—not out of good manners, however, but because we can imagine nothing of less consequence. No one can trap any members onto the rolls by secret reservations, I openly propose in advance that this society be further committed to a program of vigorous and unflinching indifference as to whether Miss Greta Garbo has married, intends to marry or doesn't give a whoop for Leopold Stokowski; where and when Charlie Chaplin married Miss Paulette Goddard; whether Miss Lupe Velez remains married to or gets a divorce from Johnny Weissmuller, and whether Billy Rose, the present husband of Miss Fanny Brice, has any intention or desire to marry any other lady, particularly Miss Eleanor Holm Jarrett, the swimmer.

Business Cleared Up
This prospectus clears up the current, pressing business of the proposed society, but the program should be left open at one end so that other items may be added as they occur in the romantic life of persons of similar distinction. Someone may wish to nominate for the official and formal intimation of our society the affairs of Tommy Manville, but I, for one, would argue against their adoption on the ground that the roll of those who would rather not hear any more about the love life of this scion and who find the mere mention of his name more or less sick-making is limited only by the roster of the human race.

We should, I think, confine our indifference to live issues, not waste it on the confirmation of conquests already won. I would apply the same thought to any future involvements of Enzo Fiermonte, the Italian pugilist who married the widow of an Astor but presently asked Madison Square Garden to get him a fight, saying to James J. Johnston, "I'm a match-maker. I gotta earn my living; there's a helluva way to earn my living."

friend to whom I explained the purposes of the society expressed eagerness to become one of the founding members and proposed that we add to the list of matters to which we will address active indifference the question of who is to play the role of the Wind. It later developed, however, that the lady who is to play this role already had been selected without our having noticed as much, so we decided that this one also was finished business and need not clutter up the program.

We did think, though, that the social activities of the Countess Dorothy di Frasso, of Hollywood, no matter who the countess might be—and we are sure we do not know—would bear watching and, given a little more publicity in the gossip columns, might qualify for the full force of our unanimous concern. And we would have placed on the tentative list the marrying of that Chicago lady who inherited a patent medicine fortune, except that we could not remember any of her names. This seemed to dispose of her without a contest.

Quarter-Century Bride
Regarding Miss Joyce, whose remarks on love and marriage inspired this idea, the story from London observed that she married first in 1912—a subtle but potent reminder that this inveterate bride has been marrying off and on, for a quarter of a century. A whole generation has been born and come to manhood and womanhood since she took her first vows, and we look for a large list of eligibles among this class, many of whom may wonder why anyone ever asked Miss Joyce whether she was in love and when she was going to marry. Among the elders, nevertheless, there must be many others who took her ventures calmly and never asked her or even themselves, "Is Peggy Joyce in love?" Gallup might take a poll on that one.

Assurance is given that anyone wishing to join our society need have no fear that any inside clique will commit the members to the CIO or against any or all of these or anything else. We are neither for nor against anybody or anything, for indifference is our invariable policy, and this is our motto:—So What?

The Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

TOPEKA, Kan. — This colorful state of the Jayhawks and Sunflowers, which gave the republican presidential candidate to the nation in 1936, this year is making different political history.

It is presenting the country with the first fascist candidate for the U. S. senate.

He is the Rev. Gerald B. Winrod, of Wichita. Running on the GOP ticket he has a mysteriously well-heeled campaign fund and because of an opposition split-up among three other aspirants, he is a 3-to-2 bet for nomination.

Kansas republican leaders, profoundly alarmed by Winrod's headway, are making desperate behind-the-scenes efforts to pull out one or two of his rivals in order to concentrate on one strong opposition candidate. So far they have had no success, although several GOP chieftains have repudiated Winrod openly.

More effective than the fuddling politics in arousing the state to the menace facing it have been the efforts of a group of liberal clerics led by the Rev. J. C. Cleveland, pastor of the First Congregational church in Kansas City, Kan., and the Rev. L. M. Birkhead, for 20 years the crusading pastor of the All Souls Unitarian church in Kansas City, Mo.

A petition signed by a score of the most prominent Protestant ministers, Rev. Cleveland has appealed to house committee investigating un-American activities to "investigate Winrod, his record, the source of his lavish expenditures and his Fascist connections."

"Winrod's publications" the petition stated, "for several years have been filled with reproductions of Nazi hatred for Catholics, Jews and Protestants. In fact, pages of his periodicals frequently read like pages from Hitler's 'Mein Kampf'."

Rev. Birkhead charges that while visiting Germany in 1935 he saw copies of Winrod's publications in the files of Julius Streicher, Nazidom's No. 1 Jew baiter. Birkhead has been thundering against the Wichita fascist by word of mouth and a scathing pamphlet, "What's Wrong With Winrod," which has been published by the Kansas Friends of Democracy.

The pamphlet grimly warns Kansans: "Winrod is a definite menace, for if he wins the nomination the first thing we know we'll have a formidable Hitler party in this country. All Jew baiters have their eyes on Winrod. If he wins, we'll have 50 Winrods running for office all over the country."

Fascist Background
Apparently anticipating this storm against him, Winrod has not only shut off his previous Nazi droolings but is even denying that he uttered them.

His stump speeches are full of vitriol against the New Deal but no longer contain the vicious hymns of hate he previously published against Jews, Catholics and educators.

In fact, some of the publications he issued and peddled with great zeal now have mysteriously disappeared.

Among these is the spurious "Protocols of the Learned Elders of Zion," a carlist forgery to inflame pogroms in Russia.

Winrod and his managers indignantly deny that they are spending large sums of money to capture the republican senatorial nomination, but the record tells a different story.

A conservative estimate of his payroll is $1,500 a month. Old political hands figure that Winrod's electioneering will come to not less than $60,000; some place it nearer $100,000. This is a huge sum in Kansas, where a $15,000 campaign outlay is a subject for scandalized attack.

The source of Winrod's funds is a mystery. He claims he is obtaining money from small contributors and from the sale of literature. But insiders insist he is getting his big money from unknown out-of-state quarters plus corporation interests who see a chance to take a sock at the New Deal.

These last elements also are reported to be masterminding his campaign and responsible for the silence on Winrod's previous Nazi rantings against Catholics and Jews.

Winrod's campaign opulence actually goes back several years. First signs of it appeared following a trip he made to Germany in 1935. Prior to that he had lived on a modest scale, but after his visit to the Nazi hierarchy, he suddenly blossomed forth.

Up until recently when GOP Chairman John Hamilton issued a sweeping denunciation of Winrod, William Allen White, Emporia's beloved crusading editor, was the only republican leader to join his voice with the men of cloth and organized labor against Winrod.

Alf Landon, and the state's veteran Senator Arthur Capper have been strangely silent about Winrod. Friends of Landon say he has kept quiet for strategic reasons, in order not to hurt the candidacy of his young liberal protégé State Senator Payne Ratner, a labor lawyer, whom Landon is backing for governor. Ratner's father is a Jew.

Bill White has been belaboring Winrod in the Emporia Gazette, and in advertisements in other papers for which he pays from his own pocket.

The Mailbag

Public opinion, or what somebody in office imagines to be public opinion, is our ruler. If public opinion is active, the politicians and people sit up and take notice. There is a definite need for outspoken talking and thinking on public matters. Honest, intelligent fair discussion of our problems is immensely useful. So that every citizen may have his say and contribute to the formation of public opinion, The Journal invites letters to The Mailbag. Please limit communications to 350 words. The editor reserves the right to shorten all letters in excess of that length.

"SPEAR"

To the Editor: Webster's New International dictionary defines Irish-American as follows: "A native of Ireland who has become an American citizen; also a child or descendant of such a person." Then, according to our best American authority on the definition of words, Douglas Corrigan is an Irish-American.

But to people of Irish blood he is more than a mere Irish-American. "Spear," as Dr. Douglas Hyde, president of Ireland, named Douglas Corrigan, "Spear" being what his name signifies in Irish, has highly honored the Irish people and they in turn will honor him.

All the rest of us. May I suggest that, instead of of printing the radio program as you have in the past, that you merely print station names and the times when the yellow basket song may be heard.

In this manner, the nuts can play in the day flitting from station to station, the music of this odd tune continually in their ears. And the rest of us can use the list as a warning.

Church going still leads as a leisure-time activity, if a sample of the Missouri population may be considered as typical of Americans in general.

And church-going is one of the few interests that do not fall off with increasing age, according to a survey conducted by Dr. Eugene S. Briggs, of Phillips University, Enid, Okla., and reported to School and Society.

Old age and increasing enforced leisure seem inevitable, unless one is to escape through death. Yet it is surprising how many of our recreational interests are those that do not appeal to the aged.

Even the movies fail to hold the elderly, those who never attend increasing steadily from 18 percent at 20 years to 50 percent at 40 years, 72 percent at 60 years and 100 percent at 90 years, Dr. Briggs found.

Card playing, dancing, radio listening, and even the entertaining of friends lose interest as we grow older, it seems.

Age does not affect concert or lecture attendance. Hobbies are enjoyed by only 39 percent of adults, but are particularly to men and women between 65 and 75 years of age, 95 percent of whom ride a hobby. Hobbies hold the better educated and the city dweller, Dr. Briggs discovered.

Athletic sports are not participated in much by aged, even if horse shows are included, Dr. Briggs said. Only one in 10 country folks play athletic games as often as once or twice a week. Here again the interest wanes with increasing age.

Of all adults who read newspapers, 40 percent find recreation in so doing. A similar percentage find recreation in reading magazines. Books are not very popular, for 80 percent have read no books in the past six months. And if you think that books are neglected on the home scene, you are wrong. The greatest number of non-readers of books were born in the city.

Philosophy

When you go to see a man on a business deal, do you learn all about him before you start?

Let me tell you about a man who did that very thing. It made a millionaire of him. That sounds big, but it's true.

Roy W. Howard was a newspaper boy in Indianapolis. As he sold his papers he made up his mind that he wouldn't always sell newspapers on a street corner. He would own a newspaper! The idea was breath-taking.

Well, he did own a newspaper. Then another. And another. Finally the day came when he wanted to buy the very newspaper he had hawked on the street—the Indiana Daily Times. A fine idea, but Mr. Boyce, the owner, didn't want to sell.

Roy decided to buy it, anyway! Almost at exactly the same time another man decided he wanted to buy the paper and approached Mr. Boyce, but Mr. Boyce remained firm in his decision.

But that did not discourage Roy. He decided he would learn all possible amount he could afford to pay, collected bonds and securities as much of it as he could, and a certified check for the rest. He put them all into a bag, and went to call on the adamant gentleman.

As Roy talked, he opened the bag and piled the money temptingly before Mr. Boyce. The man's eyes grew big, he hesitated; to Roy his hands seemed almost to tremble.

When the bag was empty Roy shut it.

The man got up and walked around, then came back and sat down again. But there was that golden pile.

"Well, all right," he said at last, with what was almost a sigh, "I'll sell."

He did! Roy W. Howard is now publisher of 25 newspapers.

You can do exactly the same thing when you have to meet a man in your business. Go to his friends and ask about him. What are his hobbies? What interests him most? Get all possible information about him. Then when you go to see him, you can more easily win him to your way of thinking.

Do you have the power to concentrate so closely on an idea that you can forget everything else? Hegel, the great German philosopher, was famous for his ability to concentrate. He taught in the University of Berlin exactly 120 years ago. One day he walked into his classroom and delivered a lecture wearing only one shoe. He had left the other shoe sticking in the mud outside. But he hadn't missed it. He was concentrating on the perplexing problems of philosophy.

I'LL TELL YOU

BY BOB BURNS

If you want anything to go unnoticed, put it right out in the open. If you hide it, every thief in the country will start lookin' for it. If you walk boldly down the street, nobody'll pay any attention to you, but if you sneak up an alley, everybody'll see you and wonder what you're up to.

The other day, on the set I heard a fella tell a girl, "All that stuff I told you the other night about my past life is a secret—I hope you didn't tell anybody." The girl says, "Oh no—I didn't tell it to a soul—I didn't know it was a secret."
